Statement from Monroe County Executive Adam Bello

“Today marks a new chapter for Eastman Kodak, which has been a world leader in innovation for over 130 years and has always called Rochester ‘home’. In this time of unprecedented challenge, this opportunity will showcase the best of Monroe County and our ability to quickly adapt to the needs of our new economy, even while responding to the COVID-19 crisis. I am excited to see Kodak leading this forward thinking initiative and am confident that our skilled workforce will make it a success.”
